

WELCOME TO NICE AIRPORT

This web site has been designed for pilots and commercial airline companies. It's principal objective is to help in training and familiarisation for operating into Nice Cote-d'Azur.

This airport has a certain number of topographical, climatological and environmental characteristics that have led to a particular choice of working methods and procedures. The most important of these have been covered in this site.

It should be noted that this airport is considered as class « B » following the criteria as defined in AMC OPS 1.975 relating to airport identification.

NOTE: Use of the web-site does not constitute knowledge of official documentation published by the Aeronautical Information Service (SIA : www.sia.aviation-civile.gouv.fr) which is the only legal document of reference. A link is included on this site.